

- === A football game in Oporto (F. C. Porto) === - nn1 - The goal-keeper and the ball, seen from one of the corner marks - nn2 - General view of the game -

nn4 - General view of the game -

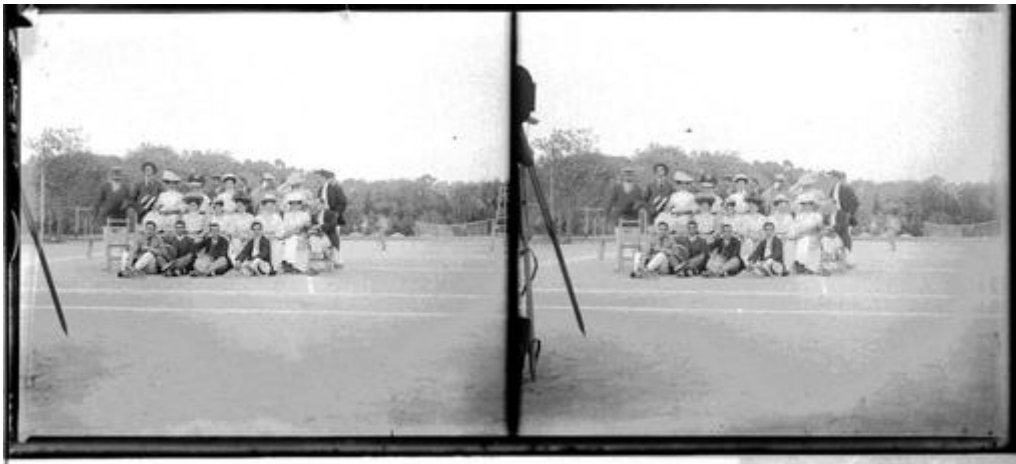

nn5 - Nice close-up view of where the action is (goal-keeper in trouble...) - nn6 - General view of the game -

- === A tennis game somewhere (Oporto?) === -

nn8 - Another group photograph - nn9 - The referee took a sit and the game is about to start - nn10 - The audience paying attention - nn11 - The game -

nn12 - One of the woman players in action -

- === Guimarães, Leixões, Briteiros, Leixões and Santo Tirso === - nn13 - Sociedade Martins Sarmiento (Guimarães) - This an archeological museum in the Rua Paio Galvão, Guimarães city. If you go by this St., in the left, you'll arrive at the Praça do Toural, if you decide to turn right you'll pass the public market and go in the V. N. de Famalicão direction. [comments by Nuno Borges de Araújo] nn14 - Square of N.ª Sr.ª da Oliveira (Guimarães) - Largo de N.ª Sra da Oliveira, with the Padrão da Colegiada in the front, the old Town Hall building in the back, and the N.ª Sra da Oliveira church in the right. This place is of historic importance because that's where people do the antiques fair once a month. [comments by Nuno Borges de Araújo] nn15 - Nice view of people waiting in Leixões (harbor of Oporto) - nn16 - Church, most likely in the center of a small village - It looks like the S. Salvador de Briteiros (Guimarães) church with the Antunes Guimarães family house in front. [comments by Nuno Borges de Araújo] nn17 - Nice view of a church in a small village, a small crowd gathering in front - It looks like the S. Salvador de Briteiros (Guimarães) church with the Antunes Guimarães family house in front. [comments by Nuno Borges de Araújo] nn18 - Same church as in the previous view, seen from a different angle - (notice that the previous view was almost certainly taken from the top of the stone staircase ahead on the right) It looks like the S. Salvador de Briteiros (Guimarães) church with the Antunes Guimarães family house in front. [comments by Nuno Borges de Araújo] nn19 - Monastery of S. Bento - Mosteiro de S. Bento in the city of Santo Tirso. [comments by Nuno Borges de Araújo]

- === A selection from all the rest === - nn20 - The ladies watch the valley and the hills - nn21 - The oxen was a valuable aid in everyday life - nn22 - Donkeys were extensively used to visit the countryside - nn23 - A typical farm house in the countryside - nn24 - A small watermill by the river - nn25 - Calm river waters (and most probably clean!) - nn26 - Posing for a photograph by the huge rock - nn27 - A perfect bucolic spot by the river - It looks like Caldas das Taipas bridge, but it is better check it out. [comments by Nuno Borges de Araújo] nn28 - Take a walk in the countryside - nn29 - Looks like a donkey-tour is about to start - nn30 - A quiet countryside road - It looks like one of the two Casa dos Pombais, in Guimarães.

[comments by Nuno Borges de Araújo] nn31 - A small countryside road - nn32 - A typical countryside view in the hills - nn33 - Perhaps a garden party... the group surely dressed for the occasion - nn34 - 'Hotel do...' - Nice hotel façade, but the rest of the name is not seen - nn35 - Judging from the high chimneys, a significant factory must be nearby - nn36 - Small street, old building (church?), place not yet identified. -
