Excellence — Activism anchored in academia naturally assumes a contemplative style, but its — In the name of 'objectivity', academics usually refrain from becoming activists. Academics who are actively pursuing understanding and knowledge should be prepared to lead and create a network of excellence — and this makes it markedly different from political or social function of academics, and usually comes in the 'community extension' responsibilities of

Note on Activism

Excellence

— Activism anchored in academia naturally assumes a contemplative style, but its — In the name of 'objectivity', academics usually refrain from becoming activists. Academics who are actively pursuing understanding and knowledge should be prepared to lead and create a network of excellence — and this makes it markedly different from political or social function of academics, and usually comes in the 'community extension' responsibilities of

Note on Activism

Excellence